TOWARDS AN INFORMED BENEFICIARY BASE

CHIEF MINISTER
ARUNACHAL PRADESH

MESSAGE

“Arise, Awake and Stop not till the Goal is Reached”

Swami Vivekananda

A responsible Government understands the needs and aspirations of its citizens and formulates policies and schemes for the benefit of the people. The ministries/departments both at state and centre, have put in tremendous efforts in creating these schemes for the welfare of poor and common people. Citizens, however, remain unaware of many such schemes and the schemes fall into disuse due to a large information gap.

This book “Arunachal Scheme Handbook: Towards an Informed Beneficiary Base” has been created with the hope that it will bridge information gap and propagate the government schemes to every nook and corner.

I appreciate the efforts of the team EY and Project Assistant from Planning Dept. in putting together this document and the unwavering support of the officers from Department of Planning in finalising it. The best policy is made when the government listens to people who are actually going to get impacted. Reaching last mile is what our priority is.

I dedicate this book to the citizens of my state and hope that they will reap the most out of this document.

( Pema Khandu )

I am happy to see that the book has been put together to directly reach the beneficiaries with appropriate information required to avail the benefit they are entitled to. I am pleased to see the efforts that the EY and the Department of Planning has put in to bring this book into picture.

I hope that the objective of this book is fulfilled in the right manner and the benefit reaches the last mile marking the journey of the state towards coverage of the largest beneficiary base.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF SECRETARY

The ultimate objective of the State Government is the welfare of the people specially the marginalised and deprived groups. The State Government has been formulating programmes /Schemes for the welfare and development of people thereby bringing equitable and inclusive development. Recently, Government of Arunachal Pradesh has undertaken a large number of initiatives in social sector.

To reach out to masses, Government connects with them through various schemes funded by Centre and the state. MGNREGS, Poshan Abhiyan, Pradhan Mantri Janani Suraksha Yojana, Chief Ministers National Social Assistance Program etc. are few examples of schemes which are having huge impact in the lives of people. Still there are lot of beneficiaries who are left behind due to lack of availability of information specially in remote areas.

Information dissemination is one of the key challenges for successful implementation of the schemes. Hence, there is a need of a common portal where citizens can get the information about all the Government schemes.

“Arunachal Scheme Handbook: Towards an Informed Beneficiary Base” is an initiative to circulate the information about the schemes that are functional in the state so as to reach out to maximum people. I appreciate the tremendous efforts of the team EY in putting this document together, duly supported by the Department of Planning & Investment and also, hold in praise all the departments of the state for their involvement and support.

I hope our citizens as well as Government servants shall make the most out of this document.

FOREWARD

It gives us immense pleasure to present a compilation of all beneficiary oriented schemes, in the book titled “Arunachal Scheme Handbook: Towards an Informed Beneficiary Base” This is an initiative of the team EY supported by the Department of Planning. The book focuses on the schemes that are functional in the state and ensures that the information about it reaches every beneficiary.

The main objective of this book is to provide people with information and encourage them to avail the benefit they deem fit. This would ensure the government to expand the beneficiary base in the state and channelise the Departments towards providing better services to the citizens.

This would also enable the Departments to facilitate timely delivery of services and bring out the transparency in the government procedure, through effective implementation and execution of the same at ground level. Outcome of the book is also focussed towards better allocation of financial resources for the functional scheme. The book covers 109 Beneficiary oriented schemes under 26 departments, out of which 68 are Central and 41 State schemes.

We are hopeful that the book is going to be a value addition for the citizens of Arunachal Pradesh, bringing them closer to the government mechanism. Also, it would direct the administration towards ‘Good Governance’ by way of accountability, transparency, responsive, equitable and inclusive, effective and efficient, participatory and consensus oriented.

Commissioner, Planning & Investment

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Good information is believed to improve decision making, enhance efficiency and provide a competitive edge to the organisation. Moreover, in today's time information on schemes has gained even more importance as an organisational resource.

Team EY working as a part of CM Dashboard project with the Planning Department came up with the idea to document 109 beneficiary-oriented schemes in the state. This thought was based on the experience while working on scheme mapping for State Indicator Framework in sync with Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Hence, supporting the thought became important keeping in mind the need of the information and expansion of the beneficiary base for which funds are being sanctioned.

First of all, I would like to acknowledge the constant support and supervision received from Shri P.S. Lokhande, IAS, Commissioner, Planning & Investment in preparing the document in spite of his busy schedules.

I would like to extend my thanks to Shri Pallab Dey, Director (Planning), Shri Amitava Kundu, Deputy Director (Planning) and Shri Akepi Linggi, Research Officer (Planning), who have reviewed the entire content as a part of the Editing Committee.
